TRAIN HITS ITS OWN ENGINE.

UNUSUAL SMASH-UP IN THE GRAND CENTRAL YARD.

Incoupled Locomotive Was Racing for a Flying Switch When a Driving Red Got Loose and Turned It Over-Mount Vernon Police Commissioner Hurt.

Policeman Fitzpatrick of the East Fiftyfirst street station saw yesterday about noon that something had happened in the railroad yard at Forty-ninth street and Park avenue, which is on his post. He heard a crash and then saw a derailed locomotive and passenger car, and a long string of passengers picking their way over the tracks and finishing their journey to the Grand Central Station afoot.

This is what Policeman Fitzpatrick reported at the station: "Engine off the track at Forty-ninth street and Park avenue. No damage to property and nobody hurt. Some persons were hurt, nevertheless, there was a lot of damage to rolling stock, traffic was stopped altogether for half an hour, and all trains were delayed more or less for the next four hours.

Police Commissioners Dugan and Hobby of Mount Vernon and Dr. Baumann and W. A. Glover of Mount Vernon were sitting in two seats when their car gave a jolt and Mr. Hobby was thrown through the door. His back was wrenched and his side hurt. The others were thrown from their seats and slightly injured. Mr. Dugan's knee

Mr. Hobby returned at once to Mount Vernon, where he found that a report that he and Mr. Dugan had been killed had preceded him. The report reached Mrs. Hobby and she was prostrated. Mr. Hobby was confined to his bed by his injuries last night. The locomotive that broke down was Engine 1008, dragging a passenger train of three cars that left Brewsters, on the Harlem division of the New York Central, at 10:23. The train ran express from Mount Vernon and was due at Forty-second street in charge of Engineer John O'Connor and Fireman E. Winslow, was uncoupled. It shot off ahead of the cars to make the flying switch 100 feet away, so that the cars might roll into the train shed at Forty-second street by their own momentum.

The locomotive hadn't got more than eight feet away from the cars when the steel strap holding the back end of the driving rod broke and the rod dropped from the pin to the ground. This derailed the locomotive in the path of the three cars that were rolling along at the rate of ten or twelve miles an hour.

The rear of the locomotive tender and the front platform of the forward passenger car were smashed by the collision. The forward car was also derailed.

There were about one hundred passengers in the three cars and all got a good jolting. Some who were standing in the aisle, ready to leave the train in a hurry, were thrown lown, and several persons in the front car were slightly cut by broken window glass. Nobody was hurt seriously enough to re-port to the railroad company's claim agent, who was on the spot within two minutes

When the driving rod struck the ground both of the cylinder heads of the engine skewed across the track enough to block

"We have lots of derailments," said Yard Manager Sanford, "but the cause of this one was most unusual."

COTTAGE COLONY PLANS.

New York to Take a Long Step Forward in Caring for the Aged and Infirm.

The property of the farm colony will be kept for its present use. It comprises ninety-eight acres of good farm land, most of it rather low and gently rolling. Here there are at present 150 men and women. In addition to the older buildings, plans have been drawn, and bids are now being nave been drawn, and blos are now being received for the construction of a dormitory for 150 men. These will be drawn from the most able-bodied of the almshouse popula-tion and the epileptic for whom accommo-dations are not in full provided at the State colony at Sonyea. They will constitute the

The forty acres adjoining to be acquired for the cottage colony are on rolling land, from 200 to 300 feet above sea level. It is on the western slope of the ridge which di-vides the island, overlooking the hills and across toward the Orange Mountains in the distance. The plans drawn by Renwick, Aspinwall & Owen provide for fourteen cottages, a chapel and an administrative niding. Three cottages will be constructed the start, one for aged couples and two or women. Men's cottages will follow.

TEDDY SCARED THE BURGLARS President's Namesake, His Owner Says, is Better Than a Burgiar Alarm. Burglars broke into the top flat at 796 Macon street, Brooklyn, on Tuesday, in the temporary absence of Carl L Stearns, the eccupant, and his family. As there was some valuable jewelry and clothing within easy reach of the robbers, Mr. Stearns was both ooth surprised and gratified to find on his return that the only missing article was a Japanese box containing some private and business papers. It was not until he opened big envelope and a large package which he postman delivered on Thursdayevening that he learned why the robbers had treated him with such consideration. The mail brought back to him not only the Japanese ox and papers, but this explanation of the novel marauding episode:

ZIONIST CONGRESS PLANS. Branch of the Jewish Colonial Trust May

Be Started Here.

Dr. Joseph I. Bluestone of 221 Henry street, the last of the American delegates to the congress of the Zionists at Basle, sails to-day on the Lucania. Although Dr. Bluestone has been elected a delegate to each of the six Zionist conventions, this is the first time that he has been abl

to attend. The most important subject of discussion, according to Dr. Bluestone, will be the enough for 5,000 families. The emigrants | follow: will support themselves by farming. The Kishineff massacre started the delegates discussing the project by letter, and a committee undoubtedly will be appointed by the congress to make the necessary rrangements.

This, of course, is a separate matter from This, of course, is a separate matter from the negotiations for the chartering of Palestine from the Sultan of Turkey. These latter are being carried on by the executive committee, headed by Dr. Herzl, at Vienna. Last year the Sultan gave his consent to turn over the tract, but under conditions which the committee thought too rigorous. Dr. Bluestone said yesterday that he expected the announcement at the coming congress that the Sultan had modified his demands. Exactly what the unpalatable conditions are no one on this side of the Atlantic seems to know.

An interesting subject for discussion will be the starting of a branch of the Jewish Colonial Trust in New York. The only other branch of this house was started in Zaffa, two years ago. The starting of such a branch will not injure other East Side banks, according to Dr. Bluestone, who is a director of the Federal Bank in Grand street.

Grand street. Grand street.

"A proof that the formation of the United Zionists of New York is not a split from the American Federation of Zionists is that we American delegates are all going to meet in London and go to Basle together," concluded the doctor. The congress will last from Aug. 23 to Aug. 28.

SHAMROCKS SAIL IN LIGHT AIR. Challenger Again Beats Her Trial Horse

-Final Spin To-day. In a breeze that travelled half way around the compass and gave Shamrock I. the benefit of every slant of wind, the challenger for the America's Cup defeated the older boat by 6 minutes and 15 seconds in a thirty-mile eeward and windward race outside Sandy Hook yesterday. Her principal gain was made, as usual, in windward work, where, in a fast increasing breeze that swept across old ocean at a twelve-knot clip at the finish, she covered the fifteen miles in three minutes and thirty-two seconds less time than did her trial horse. The gain of the challenger down the wind was two minutes and fortythree seconds. This would have been doubled but for the fact that the cup hunter struck a soft spot just when the old boat got a slant of wind that brought her within a short half mile of Shamrock III. before that boatfelt the weight of the new wind. When it didstrike her, however, she left the challenger of four years ago as if she were anchored.

The wind was west by south as the boats started from their moorings, but it veered to northwest by west when the racers reached the entrance to Gedney's channel. The start was made from Scotland lightship and the Cruiser was sent away southeast by east to log the fifteen miles to leeward. They crossed the line with spinnakers to starboard and booms broad off to port and were timed as follows: Shamrock I., 11:28:45; Shamrock III., 11:29:28. In one minute from the time the challenger crossed the line she had drawn up on even terms with the older boat and in half an hour had the "barge" three-quarters of a mile astern. The wind continued to haul and at noon spinnakers were taken in and sheetstrimmed atriffe, the boatstravelling very slowly in the light air.

PARKS IN HIS OWN DEFENCE.

SAYS THAT HE'S AN ABUSED AND MISUNDERSTOOD MAN.

The Housesmiths' Leader Announces His Principles and Proclaims His Virtues -He's for the Law All the Time -Polities in Steamfitters' Action.

Sam Parks made a speech after yesterday's meeting of the Board of Building purchase of a tract of land in eastern Egypt, Trades, explaining his attitude toward under the British flag, and on the Palestine | the employers, the law and the world at border, to which sick and needy Russian large. He said that he had been maligned Jews may go. The tract will be large and misunderstood. Some of his remarks

"The employers have been doing a lot of talking about how they were going to carry out their fight. They say they have a fund of $10,000,000 to spend on fighting a poor old broken down workman, for of course it is to fight me. There is no denying that the fight is against Sam Parks. "I don't believe these fellows have got $10,000,000 to spend. But they have some slick talkers, and they must have some expert accountants among them. "You fellows [the reporters] have been playing me up as a rowdy. I ain't a rowdy, but I'm not going to get frightened or run away. No man has a right to be in the labor movement who has cold feet. I will urge on the union that there must be no violence at meetings, and there won't be any. I never said "To hell with the law," as I was reported to have said. I am a peaceable, law-abiding citizen, and I believe that every man should respect the laws.

"I don't play cards or gamble in any way. I can take a drink when I feel like it, but that ain't a crime. I'll get my salary, $48, to-night and I'm ready to give it to any poor men who are in need. I guess I could work a long for men who are rewithout it."

Regarding L. K. Prince, chairman of the press committee of the employers association, Parks said

"Prince is a nice little fellow, but he's harmless. He says that if I get rope enough I'll hang myself, but it will have to be a long rope. When I get to the end of my rope I'll find a rough neck there to help me."

It was explained to the reporters that a rough neck was a housesmith.

At the headquarters of the Building Trades Employers Association it was said that more iron workers were returning to work. Men were employed at the Metropolitan Life annex, Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue, at Bloomingdale's store, Fifty-ninth street and Third avenue and at other places.

More so-called strikes of steamfitters and iron workers were reported. Some of these have been reported several times by the delegates. The employers' associa-tion issued the following statement last evening:

It has been positively stated on the very best authority that an attempt will be made by President Tourney of the Hod Hoisting Union to rescind the arbitration agreement, which was signed by the union a week ago. In return for this effort on Tourney's part Parks, it is said, has promised the support of the Devery faction to Tourney, who is looking for the Democratic nomination for Assembly. This accounts for Tourney's sudden change of heart on the arbitration agreement.
